

Effective Employee Resources

For more than 50 years, Lambs Farm has trained men and women with developmental disabilities on a variety of valuable work skills that enable them to be viable employees in the competitive labor market. We are here to help put that expertise to work for you.

The men and women of Lambs Farm are ready and able to be a part of your staff team. A proven track record has been established through our dedicated workers' high level of reliability, work ethic and job performance. Whether you are looking for one or more individuals to augment your staff or a team of people to support your business, Lambs Farm is prepared to meet your needs.

Individual job placements provide your company with quality employees. Our employment specialists relieve employer apprehension by providing on-the-job training and support to ensure a successful outcome for both the worker and the employer.

Our group employment program can meet your needs by providing an enclave of two to eight workers with the assistance of a dedicated job coach. Our staff analyze your needs, implement training procedures, monitor quality and provide ongoing support at your place of business.

From Our Business Partners

"With Lambs Farm, we have had seven years of valued partnership. The individuals who have worked with us these past years have been extremely reliable and dependable, providing us with high quality of values that we would expect from our own employees."

Don Robertson, Housekeeping Manager, Sedgebrook

"In today's workforce, it is becoming increasingly difficult to find employees with a high work ethic and who enjoy coming in to work. Not so with our associates from Lambs Farm. They always come to work with smiles on their faces and are genuinely happy to be working. They always work to the best of their abilities and consistently try to make customers happy."

Sean Musial, Front End Manager, Libertyville Jewel/Osco
